

Home Club Plans Boston Trip---Hilltoppers May Cinch Title---White and Hahn Doing Well

HOME CLUB TEAM MAY PARTICIPATE IN BOSTON EVENT

Weston is Encouraged by Showing of Duckpin Squad Against Y. M. C. A. Club.

INGRAM BOWLER STARS
Glenn Wolstenholm Amasses 426 Pins in Three Consecutive Games With Eagles.

Encouraged by the brilliant showing which the Home Club duckpin team made against the crack Y. M. C. A. aggregation Saturday night, Manager Weston has decided to book his team for the Atlantic Coast Bowling Association tournament, which takes place in Boston next May. Defeating Captain Meany's lads by forty-one pins in a set of three games gives Weston sufficient cause to believe his five would rank with the best in the East should it go to Boston, and there is every likelihood that this youthful organization will be one of Washington's strongest representatives when the bowling classic is staged in the Hub City.

A peculiar fact about Home Club's defeat of Y. M. C. A. is that the margin of victory was established in the first game, the second and third rounds resulting in ties of 534 and 529 respectively. While Meany had but three of his regulars in his lineup, the two substitutes are thought to have rolled games which would have compared well with those that would have been rolled by the regulars, had they been on hand.

On the roster of the Home Club are Pratt, Potter, Mikeseil, Ferguson, and Weston. Most of this number are members of various leagues doing business in Washington. The team is an all-star aggregation which would be hard to better in any one Government department of Washington.

Glenn Wolstenholm, of the Eagle team, in the Ingram's bowling, celebrated George Washington's birthday by breaking a record for the Ingram Church alley when he rolled a set of 426 in a regular league match. Wolstenholm's games were 125, 164, and 137. This is one of the best marks for three consecutive games which has ever been rolled in Washington.

GETS TWO GALLONS OF CREAM AS PRIZE

Charley Plunkett Wins Twice in Hourly Contest at Palace Bowling Alley.

Charley Plunkett, captain of the Nut duckpin team, has the distinction of winning more ice cream than any one of the several hundred bowlers who pastimed at the Palace alleys during George Washington's birthday in an endeavor to roll a high hourly score between 10 a. m. and midnight. Plunkett twice rolled high game, his score of 120, between 11 a. m. and noon, and he being high for that period, and he being high for the entire evening, he received between 7 and 8 gallons of cream. A gallon of velvet kind is the prize for each winner.

The cream was awarded the high bowlers whose names and scores are given below, by the Chapin-Sacks Company:

Name	Score	Affiliation
10 to 11—W. Plunkett	117	Reclamation
12 to 13—E. Pratt	129	Nut League
14 to 15—E. Pratt	129	Nut League
16 to 17—E. Pratt	118	Y. M. C. A.
18 to 19—H. B. Hall	124	N. Dist. av.
20 to 21—H. B. Hall	124	N. Dist. av.
22 to 23—R. Landale	124	Unattached
24 to 25—W. Plunkett	123	Nut League
26 to 27—C. M. Hoffer	122	Southwest
28 to 29—W. Plunkett	121	Nut League
30 to 31—M. Golders	120	Nut League
32 to 33—S. Neal	119	Pat. Attorneys
34 to 35—Land Office	117	W. Pratt
36 to 37—C. J. Crissey	121	Masonic

Sammy Strang Will Be Coach of Army Players

WEST POINT, N. Y., Feb. 23.—Sammy Strang, former Giant, who has guided the Army baseball team to five straight victories over the Navy, arrived today to take up his duties as coach for the Army nine. Strang got an ovation from the cadets when he put in an appearance in the gym during the progress of the Army-George Washington basketball game. The Army ball tossers will begin indoor work tomorrow under the direction of Coach Strang and Cadet Merrill, captain of the team.

Crouse Defeats Chip

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Feb. 23.—Buck Crouse, the Pittsburgh middleweight, won from George Chip, of New Castle, Pa., in six rounds before the Garden A. C. here last night. The fight was fast from the start, both men going at it hammer and tongs all the time. Crouse proved a little too clever for Chip and knocked him out all times, and often made Chip miss his hand twice. Chip scored his best punches on Crouse's ribs and several times things looked bad for Buck.

BOAT CLUBS BOWL RETURN SET SOON

March 13 Is Date Named for Five-Pin Margin to Be Disposed of by Oarsmen.

Many nights of practice will be held by the Potomac Boat Club duckpin team between the present time and March 13, when the Arundel Boat Club five comes to Washington to roll a return engagement with the lads who have their home at the foot of Aqueduct Bridge. The opening engagement between these two quints was celebrated in Baltimore last Saturday night, when the Baltimoreans won by a margin of five pins in a five-game set.

McGinnity broke into the majors in 1896 as a member of the famous Baltimore National League club. Later he played with Brooklyn (and helped them win the pennant), then he came to New York in 1902. He obtained his release from the Giants in 1909 and became manager of the Newark club in the International League. In 1913 he bought an interest in the Tacoma team in the Northwestern League.

Go in Ring Tonight

NEW YORK, Feb. 23.—Jack Dillon, the Indianapolis light-heavy, meets Frank Howard, of Bayonne, N. J., in the star ten-round event at the Broadway Sporting Club tonight. Eddie Wallace and Kid Sullivan, featherweights, meet in the semi-final of six rounds.

The Garfield basketball team is entertaining the Georgetown Prep aggregation at the Friendship House gym tonight at 8 o'clock in what is expected to be a fast game. The meeting will be the first of the season for the team.

White and Hahn Make Good at Pennsylvania

Former Schoolboy Athletes of Washington Find Places in Freshman Crew—Both Received Early Training at Anolstan Boat Club and Are Star Athletes.

The former schoolboy athletes of this city, now at the University of Pennsylvania, are making good with a will, according to no less a personage than Dr. George W. Orton, famous Penn runner of other days, and coach of the track team and successor to the late Mike Murphy. Dr. Orton is enthusiastic over the work done by the Washington contingent to date, and is predicting a brilliant future for the three lads trying for the Penn teams.

When the Penn crews took the water last week Noel White and "Cupid" Hahn were found in the body of the freshman eight having earned the berths through hard work in the preliminary training all winter. White and Hahn are well remembered for their work, while at Tech High School. In White Penn got a strapping youngster standing well over six feet and weighing 212 pounds.

Hahn and White rowed with the Anolstan crew under Coach Clarence R. Hecox, while containing the younger crew in his senior year at Tech. It will be remembered that White was also captain of the Tech football team, a shot-putter far above the ordinary.

Another lad who is earning a name for himself is Billy Hollyday, former St. Alban athlete, who is being taken in tow by Dr. Orton for the Penn track team. Hollyday has yet to find himself, but Dr. Orton says he has the makings of a fine athlete and should be heard from in a year or so.

"We have in the three lads material which is far above the ordinary," says Dr. Orton. "I tried to get hold of White to make a shot-putter out of him, and believe he could be developed into one of the best in the country. He expressed his preference for crew work, and has handled with the freshman eight, which makes it impossible to go into track work."

Hahn is another one who is keeping pace with White. He has been in the Penn crew, and when I found out who he was and that he has worked under George Green, at Cathedral, I made him come out for track work."

Dr. Orton will probably come down with the Penn team for the Georgetown meet Saturday. He was much impressed with the work of Brewster in Baltimore, on Saturday last in the Hopkins game, and the work of Billy Foley, Central, on the show, made by the youngsters under his charge, and he was sure they would make a great mark at the Penn relay games this spring.

Central's victorious relay team, which was the nearest thing to an up-curve ball, is finished at last. In his prime he was the nonpareil at Mathews today, and "Old Sal" was as well known as "Miss Fadeaway."

He has disposed of his interest in the Tacoma, Wash., club, and will retire. Joe will be forty-two years of age March 18. Last year, at the age of forty-one, he pitched in forty-six games of ball, finished forty-one of them, and won twenty. Truly an iron man to the last.

Joe's career extended over twenty years—eleven of them played in the majors. All told he has won 415 games, and next to Cy Young has won more games than any other pitcher who ever lived. His greatest triumphs were achieved while a member of the Giants.

In 1904, the iron man topped the pinless record by winning forty-three games and winning thirty-five of them. In 1903 he hurled his good right arm through fifty contests and won thirty-one of them.

It was in the former year, 1904, that he won the sobriquet of "Iron Man." During the month of August, in a drive for the pennant, he pitched and won three double-headers, one against Boston, one against Philadelphia, and one against Brooklyn.

McGinnity broke into the majors in 1896 as a member of the famous Baltimore National League club. Later he played with Brooklyn (and helped them win the pennant), then he came to New York in 1902. He obtained his release from the Giants in 1909 and became manager of the Newark club in the International League. In 1913 he bought an interest in the Tacoma team in the Northwestern League.

MINCE PIE "LITTLE OF EVERYTHING" By "BUGS" BAER.

Efforts of The Hague tribunal for peace have at last been rewarded. Frank Baker has retired. Peace Indians seem to have organized a Federal League.

Problem's easy enough to decipher. All we have to do to win the pennant is beat out seven teams.

Soft enough to pick the loser in the Johnson-Willard fight. It will be the audience.

It is rumored that the mysterious individual who will succeed Frank Baker at third base for the Athletics owns a farm in Trappe, Md.

Jackie Roberts has had the Tech boys come to the wars and they are boys responding to the call last week. No coach has as yet been selected for the Tech players and the matter will probably come up for decision shortly.

The high school faculty advisors will get together some time this week for the adoption of dates for the high school championship series. The question of the dates and place to play the series is as yet unsettled.

Ad Wolgast breaks more bones than Fred Merkle pulls.

At Least the Dumb Bullet Kills Its Victims Outright. Five umpires have signed up to stick through the coming season with the Federal League.

MAJORS HAVE GOOD BUNCH OF LEADERS. Fed's Crew of Managers Hardy Comes Up to Standard of National and American.

One striking improvement in baseball in recent years is the selection of higher class, brainier and more studious men as managers.

A brief study of the managers may give some line on what their teams will be for the year. In every instance, is a reflection of the personality of the leader. Of course, no manager can win unless he has the tools; but it is equally true that even a good team cannot win with a bad manager. Here's the way one expert sees them:

National League.
George Stallings, Braves—Big, impressive and thoughtful. The closest student of baseball in the game. Fair with his men off the field, a slave driver on it. Moran, Phillies—Quiet, earnest, thoughtful fellow. A trifle easy-going and untried as a disciplinarian.

American League.
Bill Carrigan, Red Sox—Good-natured, "good-old-boy" type. Improved greatly last year.

Federal League.
Joe Tinker, White Sox—Hustling, aggressive type. Great inside man. Showed unexpected ability as leader.

International League.
Clarence Rowland, White Sox—Aggressive, hustling, Jennings type. Very leader on the field. Unknown quantity.

Atlantic Coast League.
Rebel Oakes, Pittsburgh—Hustler, aggressive. Learned much last year about handling men.

Eastern League.
Laurie Seibury, Buffalo—Minor league type. Improved. Below caliber of the league in experience.

South Atlantic League.
Lee Magee, Brooklyn—Unknown ability. Popular with men.

Wah Kai Chang Is Good In Three Kinds of Sport

Chicago University Has First Chinese Student to Win Recognition in Track, Baseball, and Football. Oriental Lad Has Won His Class Numerals.

CHICAGO, Ill., Feb. 23.—Wah Kai Chang, a twenty-year-old student of the University of Chicago, is the first Chinese athlete to win recognition in several branches of sport.

Chang is one of the best of the younger prospects under the tutelage of "Old Man" Stagg and Coach Pat Page. He shows what is known as athletic versatility.

Chang is a sophomore. He entered college too late to go out for football in the fall of 1913. In the school year 1913-14, the Chinese boy got up under the eye of the Maroon coaches. He reported for practice on the track, and also tried out with the freshman baseball squad in the spring, earning his numerals under Coach Page as an outfielder. "Pat" kept up the baseball interest at the university during the summer months in 1914 with an all-star team of students and alumni diamond stars. Young Chang had a regular berth.

When the call for freshman football players was issued last September, Chang appeared at headquarters in his gymnasium and requested a suit from "Johnnie" Johnson. The Maroon trainer at first was inclined to scoff, but he gave out the uniform.

The next day Wah Kai Chang was one of the hottest of the new men who were tackling the dummy and undergoing the rigorous drill prescribed by Coach Stagg. Chang stuck with the freshman team, playing at various positions, chiefly as a fullback. He worked hard and cheerfully, winning his "15" numerals with sixteen other first year men.

The call for track candidates was put up in Bartlett gymnasium the first week in January. Wah Kai Chang presented himself solemnly as a candidate for the cross-country track team. He already possessed a number of athletic records, and he was well known to the coaches. He was selected for the team, and he was one of the most promising comers in the track squad.

Chang is popular with his teammates. He is a good student, and one of the best known and best liked men about the Chicago campus.

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 23.—Negotiations for the proposed six-round Kid Williams-Johnny Kilbane bout here are still pending, with the possibility of a decision in a few days. Developments today proved that the date in the match has shifted from the weight and financial questions to a matter of the referee.

On receipt of Promoter Edwards' bid of $11,000, with a privilege of 25 per cent to each boxer, Jimmy Dunn, manager of Kilbane, wired the Olympia impresario that he would consent to the match provided Billy Rocap, of this city, be appointed referee of the contest.

Jack Hanlon, matchmaker of the Broad street arena, said that Dunn would have to agree to the club's official referee, Frank O'Brien, as the third man in the ring. Edwards wired Dunn in Cleveland charges holding over him the match provided Billy Rocap, of this city, be appointed referee of the contest.

Before Dunn left for Cleveland last week he signed a contract with Jack McGuigan, of the National A. C., for a Kilbane-Williams fight for a purse of $5,000.

If the fight is held, Hanlon said the date for the battle between the two champions would be set for March 17.

EL PASO, Feb. 23.—Despite the statement of Jack Curley, the promoter, and those interested with him, that the fight will surely take place, there is a growing conviction that the championship battle between Jack Johnson and Jess Willard will not be fought at Juárez.

The reason for this is that Johnson is afraid to be returned to the United States to answer the white slavery and fugitive from justice charges hanging over him. He believes he will be convicted again and face a term in prison. This would eliminate him from the pugilistic map, whether champion or not.

The fact that Johnson hinted that Havana would be a good place for this contention. The big black knows he is safe in Cuba and he knows he may not be so in Mexico, especially in Juárez, with only a bridge separating him from that country and the United States.

The announcement by Curley that the fight may have to be postponed is taken by those on the outside to mean that Curley can be seen the fact that the fight will be postponed it will only be for a week or so. El Paso wants the fight. The people here want to see a bout for the world's title. But how can they see one if the champion will not be here to step into the ring. And between the lines in Johnson's dispatches to Curley can be seen the fact that "Big Smoke" is afraid to place his liberty in jeopardy.

Will Take Charge. NEW YORK, Feb. 23.—John McGraw will sail from Havana either today or tomorrow for New Orleans and go from there to Martin, Tex., to assume charge of his Giants.

Excursions. NEW YORK, Feb. 23.—The Palace Steamers "Northland" and "Southland" will sail for Europe on Feb. 24. The "Northland" will sail for New York and Boston on Feb. 24. The "Southland" will sail for New York and Boston on Feb. 24.

HILLTOPPERS MAY CINCH THE TITLE

Georgetown's Track Squad May Prove Surprise of Indoor Meet Saturday Night.

While much has been said of the visiting athletes to appear at the big Georgetown indoor track meet here next Saturday night, the Hilltoppers themselves have been almost overlooked.

Those who have been following the daily workouts of the Blue and Gray representatives believe that they will provide the biggest surprise of the evening at Convention Hall.

Only seven men entered the George Washington games, yet two South Atlantic championships were taken. With one point on a third, Georgetown won eleven points with these seven athletes. Only ten men took part in the Johns Hopkins meet last Saturday in Baltimore, yet they scored sixteen points, bringing in twenty-one events for the sectional title.

Next Saturday five more South Atlantic championships will be on the program, and going as they now are, the Hilltoppers are likely to clinch the title. It is expected that about thirty-five athletes sporting the silks of old Georgetown will contend in both the open and closed classes.

Among the new entries received by Manager Tom Gurry is that of Tom Ingham, a noted New York hurdler. He will appear in the dashes.

Almost twenty-five local relay teams will take part in the long program Saturday night, representing colleges, prep schools, and clubs. Five relay fours will struggle for the Knights of Columbus title, and there will be a Boy Scout championship relay. Close to fifty names have been marked down on the blanks.
